STUDENT LIFE

The first day of school finds students flocking to the gym for a howdy program.

A welcome from Mr. Colley to start the year.

New teachers arrive in the eorridor.

I promised to call Mom to say everything is O.K.

The climax of a perfect day.

There's nothing like the anticipation of that first lunch.

Why must I be late on the very first day?

Mrs. Hall tries to serape one more green pea from the pan.

Mr. Hart likes to keep the halls immaculate.

There's nothing like a spotless kitchen for Mrs. White.

Mrs. Mawyer and Mrs. Foster prepare for the oncoming of the lunch line.

And what's a lunch line without a "breaker."

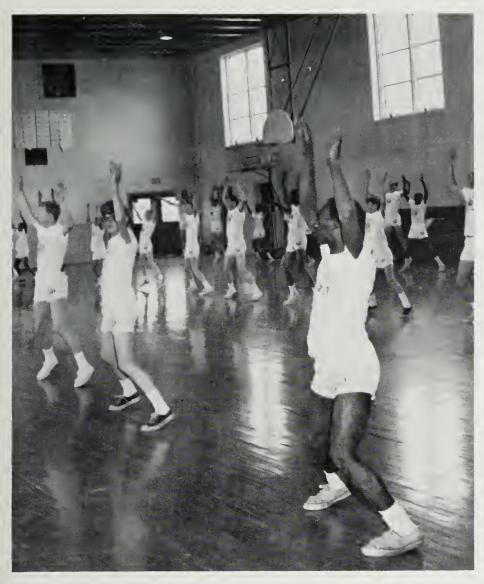

Mrs. White, Office Secretary, is truly worth her weight in gold.

Sock it to me!

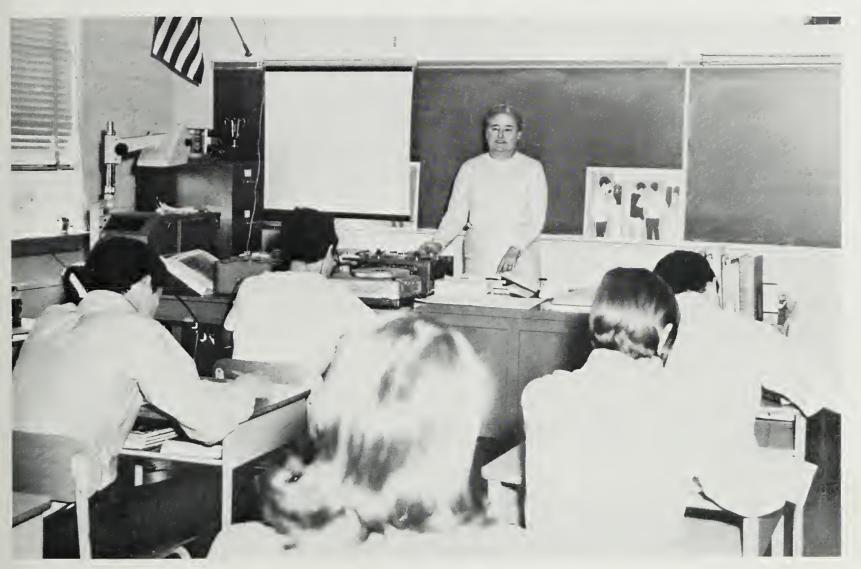

Mr. Foster, you are doing a wonderful job.

As the year rolls on, so do the classes.

There is individual work for each student . .

As well as mass instruction.

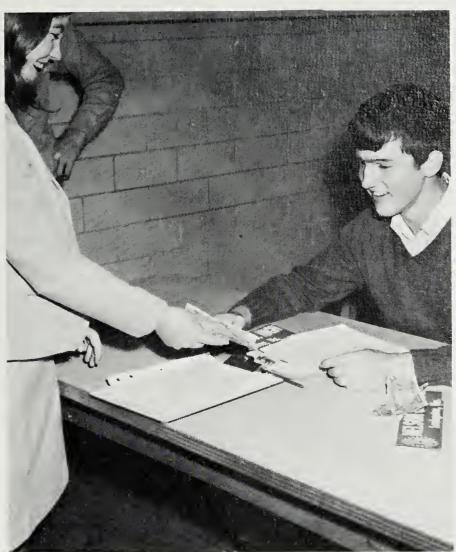

As creating your first masterpiece

Or surviving a year in the basement.

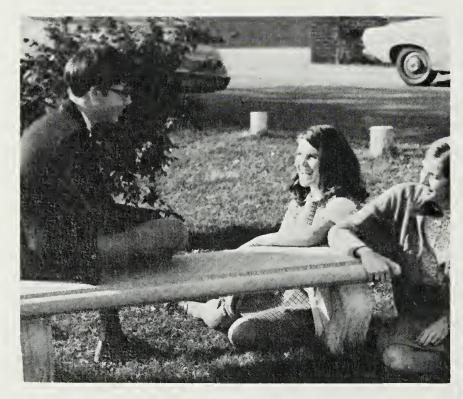

No school can function without money raising schemes

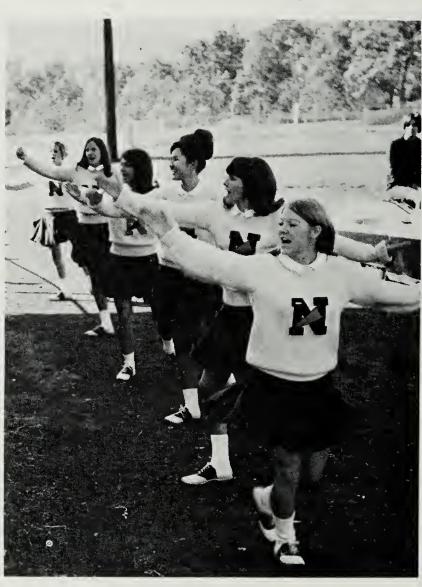

And some scandals.

As the days turn brisk the band plays on . . .

And students lounge about.

The more industrious perform their job.

The girls steal the game from the boys in the annual powder puff game.

And just as football starts....

So the boys turn cheer-leaders....

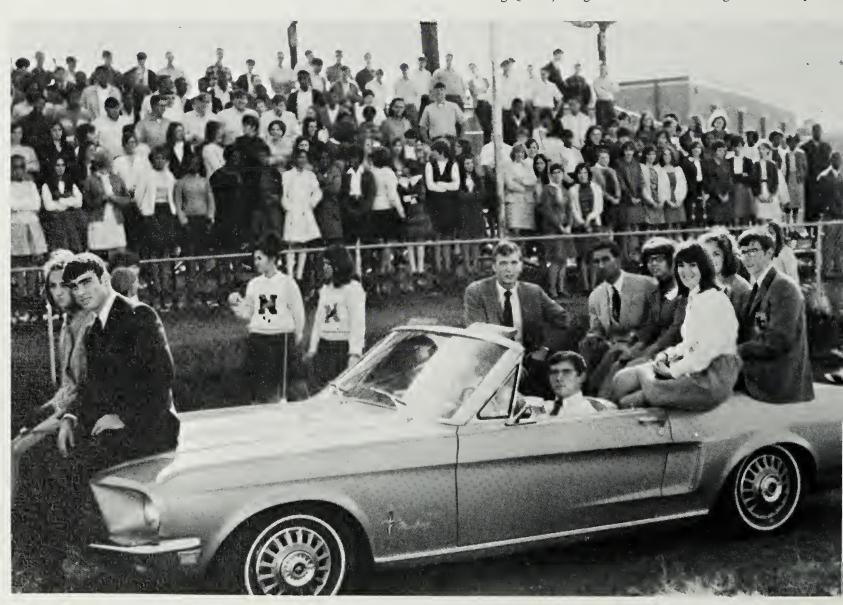

And leave the fighting to the girls . . .

While the game goes on.

Homecoming Queen, Margaret Mitchell and King Ronnie Moyer.

Homecoming Queen and King with the homecoming court.

Homecoming court piled in their shiny convertible.

And as Christmas arrived

The students eagerly flocked home.

The last dance of the prom.

The swinging generation.

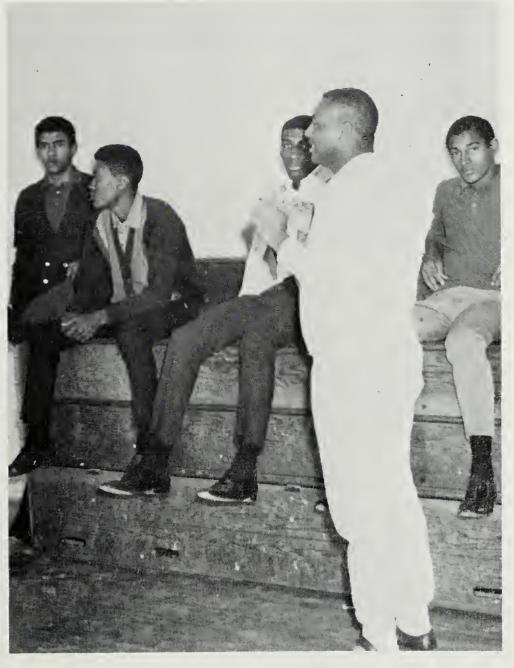

What a way to be outnumbered!

Mr. Ingersoll aids a junior in preparing for college.

"My own little place."

Straighten up, you guys. This is the end.

ADMINISTRATION

ALL IN A DAY'S WORK

The day begins with the arrival at school.

A rest now and then amid the hustle and bustle of school work . . .

A teacher's duty ranges from a basketball game

Pondering over the many questions proposed by the students . . .

And always lending a helping hand when the going gets rough.

There's playing French cards in the classroom . . .

Guarding the lunch line for the "breakers" . . .

Continuously asking "why do you need a pass?" . . .

Helping a student with his term paper . . .

And finally, that glorious time of day-6th period.

ENGLISH

With four credits of English required of each student graduating in a high school, Nelson has established a very large and efficient English curriculum. Under the expert consul of Dr. Richard Meade of the University of Virginia, the English department has established many new and improved goals. Among these are: the reduction of teaching formal grammar in all four grades to the 9th and 10th grades only; the additions of "paperback libraries" in some of the English classrooms; and the establishment of English curriculum guides.

Two departments at N.C.H.S. are combined to give us Fine Arts. They are music and the library. The music department is made up of band and chorus offerings. Anyone in school is eligible for either organization, upon showing any degree of musical aptitude. The band, directed by Mr. Veron Lewis, has achieved a degree of repetition in our area both in concert work and in their marching prowess. The chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Delores Truesdale is one of the best that N.C.H.S. has ever had. Made up of an overall chorus and a concert choir, they have shown real talent in the voices of many students.

The library, under the supervision of Mrs. Shirley Sullivan, is of great help to any student who wishes to take advantage of its opportunities. There are books for almost any type of reader. Fine Arts play an important role in the life of any student.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

This year has been one of change for the Special Education Program. Emphasis has been placed on individual instruction at each student's level of ability. This year's curriculum included instruction in a variety of fields. Language arts, social studies, mathematics, and science were the basic areas of instruction, each student being allowed to progress at his own rate. Many students were able to make considerable progress this year. High school mathematics, biology, as well as algebra and American History, were courses taken by several students in the class. Special Education is an integral and necessary part of any good academic program. The improvements already made this year by Mr. Patrick A. Barker, the new instructor, along with those which had previously been made will provide N.C.H.S. with a first rate Special Education Program.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Caroline C. Tucker University of Va., B.A., M.A.

Students at N.C.H.S. are able to prepare for college by taking Spanish, French or Latin. Teachers hope to help language students to understand the language, to be able to read it, write it, and give their own answers when questioned. Through the efforts of the department head, Mrs. Caroline Tucker, pupils become acquainted with foreign customs and are able to have fun while learning. Latin alone, helps to teach the background of English and the origin of certain words. It is with this type of curriculum that the Foreign Language Department tries to help the student better understand himself and the world around him.

MATH

The Math Department plays a very important role in the curriculum of N.C.H.S. Headed by Mr. William N. Moxley, the department has many objectives for 68-69. They hope to develop a coordinated program with the new Junior High School. The staff is also busy with the adoption of new textbooks for the 69-70 school session. There are tenative plans to offer Algebra I to capable 8th graders. Certainly with these objectives in mind, the existing curriculum will be greatly improved.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The motto of the physical education department may well be "excellence through mind and body." Rigorous exercise periods, touch-football games, basketball drills and many other activities provide an opportunity for physical education students to enjoy healthful exercise and learn co-operativeness, precision and sportsmanship. Classroom lectures on health, hygiene, driver education and discussions on teenagers and their problems develop an awareness of today's world and a foresight of the future.

There can be no doubt that the vigorous efforts of Mr. League and his physical education department have been responsible for the disciplined, well-trained teams that have brought so many honors to Nelson. More than just physical excellence and helpful knowledge are gained from physical education, a kind of spirit, that can only be described as, The Nelson Way.

SOCIAL STUDIES

The department of social studies at N.C.H.S. hopes to inculcate in each student an understanding and appreciation of the culture of which he is a part. Under the direction of Department head Mrs. Marcia Richards, the department stresses the value of learning about contemporary issues of today's world as well as events of the past and hopes to make the student keenly aware of his own role in this world. The department offers courses in four areas of the social sciences: American History, World Geography, World History, and Government; but is presently planning to add an additional elective.

The Guidance Department is very important to any student at N.C.H.S. With the help of Mrs. Lillain Coleman, Mrs. Catherine Whitehead, and Mr. DeForest Ingersoll, students are given individual help with problems concerning anything from personality to college. This department provides students with individual or group testing, vocational and educational information on college, scholarships and jobs. Here, too, an individual student record is kept with such things as test results, grades, autobiographies, and questionnaires.

The vocational department of N.C.H.S. is divided into two sections: Home Economics and Agriculture. The study of homemaking is of great value because every girl is a potential homemaker and work of this type helps her to prepare for the most important of all vocations, that of homemaking.

For boys, N.C.H.S. offers a four-year program in vocational agriculture which is planned to acquaint and prepare students for the many occupations in the industry of agriculture. Department heads, Mr. E. Harris Puckett and Mrs. Nancy T. Parr have helped to improve the program for vocational students.

No longer is it sufficient to know only "what is"; the probing question is "why?".

In an effort to encourage student inquisitiveness in this "science for today", the science department, under the supervision of Mr. John White, is making every attempt to supply the basic tools through which greater thought may evolve.

The Rebels of Appomattox fell 10-7 to Nelson in the most thrilling game of the season as Lindy White kicked a 40-yard field goal with only a few seconds remaining. On October 8, Homecoming game, the mighty Governors, playing in a downpour of rain and a morass of mud, defeated Altavista 20-0. Dan River fell next to the Governor's machine. In the most important game of the year, Ronnie Stevens, backed by a stout defense, scored the one touchdown which defeated William Campbell 6-0 and captured the District of Championship for Nelson.

OUTDOOR TRACK

In the spring of 1968 the Nelson Governors continued their dominance over District IV track foes by winning their fifth consecutive (and 11th out of 12) District Championships. During the regular season the cindermen posted dual meet wins over Wilson Memorial, Rustburg, Altavista, William Campbell, and Amherst. Their only loss came at the hands of Group V powerhouse, Turner Ashby. This same team edged the Governors by 1½ points for the State Group II Championship later in the spring.

The District Meet, however, was a brighter story for the Governors, as they walked over their nearest competitor, highly rated Appomattox, by more than a 60 point margin. Nelson took eight first and ten second places in this meet. Six school records were set by the 1968 Cindermen in the high and low hurdles, the mile, the half mile and the 800 yard relay.

They dropped into a four game slump and finished the season with two more wins and a loss.

ACTIVITIES

What is the SCA-an organization consisting of all students applying their ability to establish a form of government. This year the SCA has strived to bring out a closer relationship not only between the students and faculty but among the students themselves. The Pep Week displayed this desire among the students. Also they feel the need to be able to voice their opinions.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Whitehead, the sponsor, the SCA officers and other interested members were allowed to attend district and state meetings to bring back creative and stimulating ideas to promote student participation and awareness.

Dances have been sponsored by the SCA. The SCA informs the students of the government around them through assemblies such as the assembly on the presidental election. Thus, the SCA creates a system of co-operation among a majority.

Honor; that is to say, leadership, character, service, and scholarship is molded by being together, in the Honor Society. Sponsored by Mrs. Tucker, the Honor Society, a select group of five students, is eternally active. Two continous projects of the Honor Society are to award a $50.00 scholarship to a nonmember senior who plans to continue his education and the awarding of certificates to students who have made good grades throughout the year. The society has been responsible for decorating the bulletin board and sent cards to former graduates of N.C.H.S. serving in the armed forces.

Despite the energy and time devoted to the annual, the students and sponsor, Mrs. Richards, enjoy the experience that it gives them. The Governor staff had a great time collecting ads and pictures for the annual. They feel that the devotion required for such a tedious job is worth the results that are produced.

N.C.H.S. marching band in action!

Work for this year's performances began in the summer with individual study; band camp at Ferrum Junior College, and the full band coming together in August to prepare for the first football game. In addition the band marched in the Shrine Benefit Parade and performed at half-time in Lynchburg, traveled to V.P.I for a half-time performance and performed for a Christmas parade in Amherst. Veterans Day found the band playing for the ceremonies and a few days later they presented their first concert of the year in the auditorium of Nelson County High School.

Director Vernon T. Lewis and his grade six band feel they have had a very rewarding and busy year. The viewing public of the Nelson County High School governor band was near 100,000 people.

The Nelson County High School Band participates in Band Day at V.P.I.

BAND

The concert band provided excellent music throughout the year.

Majorettes: Joyce Horsley, Audrey Zirkle, Margaret Mitchell, Pat Wilson (head majorette), Patsy Whitehead, Starlet Stevens, and Sara Jordan.

Oh, those long hours of practice after school.

Two hours of extra practice for the woodwind section.

David Lewis poses with his tuba and numerous band awards.

And one, two, three.

DEBATE CLUB

The Debate Club, which meets bi-weekly, has as its goals: first, to learn the necessary techniques to be an effective debater, and secondly, to research as thoroughly as possible the national high school debate topic for this year in order to prepare for competition with other schools in the spring. Some members also participated in a round table discussion held in December at the University of Virginia in connection with the national topic.

Debate Club members Donnie Floyd, Emma Napier, Harry Powell, Mrs. Lyons, Becky Thompson, Mike Kidd, and Peggy Lewis.

Now students, calm down and sing.

Perfection was the goal of the 1968–69 Chorus; perfection that could come only after hours of diligent classroom study and countless days of after school rehearsal.

Realizing that learning to sing was more important than getting a credit for the year, the students buckled down, learning musical terms and blending voices.

Under the direction of Mrs. Delores Truesdale, the 93-voice chorus gave a Christmas and Spring Concert, and performed for student assemblies. The 38-voice concert choir participated in the Spring Festival and sang with the chorus during performances. Through hard work and willing students, N.C.H.S. had one of the best choral groups ever.

CHORAL

Drama Club members with sponsors and officers: (first row) Mr. Settle, Sponsor; Jackie Haywood, Vice-President; Nell Martin, Secretary; Karen Peverill, Treasurer; Vickie Campbell, President; Donnie Harvey, Representative; Patricia Campbell, Assistant Representative, and Mrs. Carter, Sponsor.

After a long absence, an organization devoted to dramatic expression has reappeared at N.C.H.S., under the supervision of Mr. Settle and Mrs. Carter. Since acting, directing, stage work and the other skills needed for a successful play are also much needed abilities in education and in communication in life, the new club this year has been very popular. The first production, the hilarious TV comedy, The Beverly Hillbillies, provided a great opportunity for both those new to the world of theatre and to those with some experience to apply their talents to a new field. The play involved a large number of NCHS students, and was a tremendous success, in performance and in audience response. As the spring began, plans were already being laid for a spring production, perhaps of a more serious nature; in any case, we hope it will be just as big a success, and wish the Drama Club luck in their great new undertaking.

Uncle Jed and Granny (Billy Mays and Tamara Goolsby) starred in the production of The Beverly Hillbillies.

CLASSES

FRESHMEN

Freshmen look forward to four active years.

As newcomers to N.C.H.S. take on the honor of being in high school they choose a leader to direct them and help them to begin their search for knowledge. This leader, David Barber, has proven to be able and active in aiding the class of '72. Under his supervision, the freshmen class has made a good start, and the promise to carry through.

(Kneeling) David Barber, President; Miller Payne, Reporter. (Top row) William Ragland, Viee-President; Mary Rose, Secretary; J. W. Butler, Treasurer.

MIKE KIDD HAS SOPHOMORES ON THE MOVE.

The class of '71 started off with a bang by selling Nelson County High School sweatshirts. The money made from this will be saved for the prom they will give as Juniors.

In the second chapter of the four chapter volume of High School, this sophomore class is writing a stimulating story. They are an active and interesting group and hold great promise for their next two years.

JUNIORS

Much of the zeal of the Junior class can be contributed to vivacious Donna Baker. Energeticly, the class sold subscriptions for the Nelson County Times, held bake sales and sponsored dances. The money obtained from these fund raising drives was saved with one purpose in mind, the junior-senior prom. All the work was well worth it for it was truly one of the loveliest proms yet.

SENIORS

Seniors pause for a moment during the Junior-Senior Prom.

SENIORS CAPTURE SPIRIT AWARD

Under the able leadership of class president Adrienne Wilson, the '69 Seniors and spirit have been synonymous. This has been proven by the winning of the first spirit award by the Seniors to be presented at Nelson County High School, and further enchanced by the winning of the powder-puff by the Senior girls with a score of 13-0.

It was obvious last year with the presentation of a highly successful Junior-Senior prom, that the Senior class of this year was going to show plenty of drive.

Further talent was exhibited in our Senior Variety Show rounding out a hard-working year for the class of '69.

The irresistable "Stilts" is once again the center of attention during lunch.

Hey, how about taking that back to the beginning for a re-run?

Students discuss "Mock" election held at NCHS.
